

Welcome to Harrison State Forest

Forest History

The 1,344-acre Harrison State Forest was purchased in 1961. A substantial portion of the land has been stripmined for coal. However, the production of acid mine water is minimal because of the neutralizing effect of limestone deposits. The majority of unstripped lands are located on ridges or in valleys, and are in forest cover. Subsequent reforestation and installation of recreation facilities, funded through the Appalachian Regional Development Act of 1965 and the Ohio Capital Improvements program, have restored the area to a condition suitable for public use. Two areas were reforested in 1992 and 1993. Over 100,000 trees were planted on 186 acres.

Location

Harrison State Forest is located in Harrison County, approximately three miles north of Cadiz, east of State Route 9. The primary area lies north of County Road 13, while two smaller tracts are located south of County Road 13.

Camping

Two campgrounds equipped with picnic tables, fire rings, drinking water and vault latrines are available. Seven family campsites are located at Ronsheim Campground while 20 sites accommodating horseriders or family campers are available at Trailriders Campground. Campers must select a site; officers will collect fees, issue permits and familiarize visitors with camping regulations.

Trails

Twenty-four miles of combined bridle and hiking trails are located throughout the state forest. Parking areas are strategically located at trail intersections.

Rifle Range

An shooting range is provided for the sportsman or shooting enthusiast to practice marksmanship or sight-in firearms for accuracy. The area is available on a first-come, first-served basis. Persons under 16 years of age must be accompanied by a person of legal age while discharging firearms. Exercise extreme caution and observe all rules of gun safety when using this area.
